How to Use Auto Trails Maps

ROUTES shown in the Map, viz: — 65 — indicate marked automobile roads. The numbers in the squares refer to the corresponding numbers in the map key, where descriptions of the road signs painted on the poles will be found. Follow these signs to your destination.

In larger cities, where entrances and exits are confusing, and often there are no trail signs, you will find on the city maps in this guide what streets to use in order to follow a given trail through the city.

TOURISTS!

THROUGH scenery with beauty as rare and as grand as can be found in any part of America, the state is building a splendid system of highways. The wonderful natural phenomena of the Yellowstone Park, the rugged grandeur of Wyoming's snow-crested mountains, and its national forests offer attractions to those seeking rest and recreation, seldom found elsewhere.

SETTLERS

Few climates are more stimulating, healthful and pleasant. The almost constant sunshine and cool nights are conducive to the rapid growth of both plants and animals, combined with the wonderful wealth of the soil produces crops which have put Wyoming's farm values per acre, (according to United States Agricultural Department reports) far above some of the most favored sections of the Middle West and East.

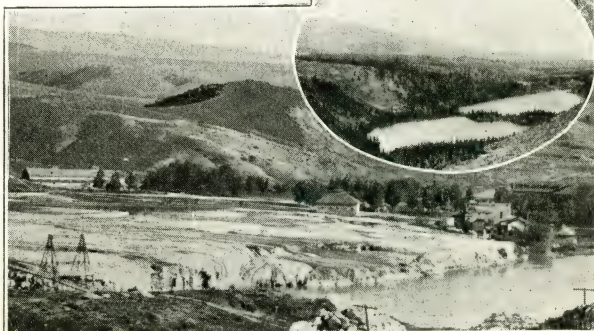

Raw, irrigated or non-irrigated lands, partially or wholly developed near rapidly growing cities and towns, with excellent schools, churches and markets, are to be found for prices ranging from $20.00 to $150.00 per acre.

Circulars, bulletins and maps for the tourist or settler can be had upon request from

If you have the right rings in your car why does it pump oil?

*Write for booklet,
 “What Do You
 Know About Piston Rings.”*

CARBON-O Piston Rings

Are Leading the Field. Why?

Because they are lateral expanding.

You can grind Carbon-O's to the grooves.

You can fit Carbon-O's in worn grooves.

Carbon-O's are all Cast Iron. Heat doesn't effect them.

Carbon-O's are made of the same material as the Cylinder wall and will not bell the Cylinder.

Carbon-O's stop oil pumping and save fuel.

Carbon-O's cling to the ring grooves, so stop piston slapping.
